London: Baldwin & Cradock, 1836. Original outline colour. Steel-engraving. Dissected and laid on linen, folded into buckram covers, titled in gilt, as issued. 345 x 400mm.

£70

Steel-engraved town plan, with a long prospect of the city in three sections, above and down the sides of the map, and elevations of the ancient buildings under the map. Usually this map appeared in the SDUK atlas: however this example was issued as a folding map, probably for the use of a tourist.
